Workshops

Zines

This workshop will be an introduction to the world of zines. We'll look at some examples of what formats a zine can take and then we'll make our own out of old magazines, stickers and paper, ready to be photocopied!

Writing a short story

What makes an engaging short story? How to do you find ideas? With guided writing exercises, participants will leave with the foundations of a new short story.

General fiction

What are the most important elements of fiction? How do you get started? With guided writing exercises, participants will leave with the foundations of a new story, or enthusiasm for their existing projects.

I have also run workshops on worldbuilding, neurodivergence, writing queer characters, and many other topics. Want me to run another kind of workshop? Just ask!

Materials required

For zine workshops: a whiteboard, glue, scissors, textas, pens, etc, magazines to cut up.

For others: powerpoint capabilities, a microphone if the room is very large

Covid safety

Where possible, I want to avoid the spread of Covid. I will be wearing a mask for any indoor events and encourage participants to do the same.
